ALL MOMS want to raise their children in a safe environment.

Regardless of their economic status, which neighborhood they live in, what job they do, which church they attend, all moms share a common desire—they want their kids to be safe. How we create secure communities is the challenge.

While there's no single solution, cities across the country have seen the difference that technology can make. ShotSpotter alerts local law enforcement to illegal gun violence in under a minute. Recently, it has become an accepted and vital part of any urban gun crime prevention strategy, and is trusted in more than 90 cities across the country.

We must be smart about leveraging technology tools to improve our quality of life, enhance public safety, and decrease crime—especially gun crime—in every corner of our town, so that families feel safe and secure in their communities.

The safety of your family—at home, at school, at work or out in the community—is a most basic need.

Protect them, with ShotSpotter.
